other complications that may be seen include infection with abscesses and sepsis.

ultimately, these college millennials were introduced to a new “accessory”—their hair—as it is the larvae that are responsible for most of the damage that this species can cause.